This November issue of Milestones in Medical Education marks the end of the first trimester of this academic year and the beginning of the peak busy season. As the Florida hurricane season ends, a new season of holiday cheers, recruitment, and giving. This is the season where our trainees interview for fellowships, and where we welcome applicants from all over the globe who seek to interview for residency at Nicklaus Children's Hospital.

In this issue of Milestones in Medical Education, we continue to highlight the following milestones:

- Residents participated in the MCHFoundation 2017 5K Run

- Halloween celebrations featured heroes that are familiar and dear to our patients
- Our trainees continue to showcase their scholarly work nationally and internationally
- The Department of Medical Education showcases highlights from the Annual Institutional Review Report
- Medical Education and its program focus on well-being and burnout mitigation
- Trainees participated in the FIU LCME College of Medicine Accreditation site visit.
- A new "Well Being" column is added to the newsletter

As we look to the beginning of the Holiday Season and the welcoming of the New Year, and in the spirit of Thanksgiving, we give thanks to patients, families, faculty, hospital staff for all the good work that everyone does to shape the learning environment of our trainees and students. We also prepare to welcome the Holidays and the New Year 2018 with hopes for continued growth, success, and academic advancement at all levels. Blessings to all!!!!

Milestones in Faculty Development

Highlights from the Annual Institutional Review and Annual Medical Education Report for 2016-2017 Academic Year

The Department of Medical Education just completed its Annual Institutional Review. Although our training programs continue to perform at high level of excellence, we continuously strive to do better and believe that “Better is Always Possible”. Looking at the 2016-2017 academic achievements, we are proud to share some highlights of the Institutional report and the achievements in the past academic year. The following are highlights of the report:

1. Nine faculty development sessions were discussed either as a Grand Round, Live Workshop, and/or a Milestones Newsletter article

2. The fellows completed a total of eleven Quality Improvement Projects (either individually or as a team)
3. The Annual Scholarship Day had 61 abstracts presented in the categories of Original Research, Case Reports, and QI projects.
4. There have been a steady increase in the number of abstracts presented in the Annual Scholarship Day from 2011 to 2017 with an increase in all categories for both residents and fellows.

5. There have been a steady increase in all categories of core faculty Scholarly Activities as reported to ACGME
6. More core faculty have had at least one PMID publication per year from 2012-2013 to 2017-2018 academic years.

Below are some of the graphical trends of these achievements.
